Innovation
The power of innovation is inspiring. To create something and better the world is my ultimate life goal. By majoring in informatics, I am taking the necessary steps I need to achieve that goal. My current project has been developing an app to help college students.

Sisterhood
As a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority I have learned how important it is to have healthy relationships in your life. There is no greater feeling than empowering my sisters and friends and seeing them succeed. To have that support system to lean back on in life is crucial.

Puppies
Pets are the perfect example of what true unconditional love and trust is. Volunteering at animal shelters and adopting from shelters are causes that are close to me. As a proud dog mom, I have seen first hand the positive effects that pets can have in your life.
