Firewall

Security for networks

Firewall is a system of hardware and software that blocks unauthorized users from both inside and outside the network from entering your network and stealing or harming your data.

Firewall can be thought of as having two parts.

1) Choke – forces all data to pass through central point or gate.
2) Gate – regulates flow between two networks.

Local Area Network with Firewall