Narrative

Here at GOAL we take great pride in being a company that is on the rise, and even though our main focus is getting people outdoors doing activities we need to make sure we are using cutting edge technology to get our name out there. As a company we just inherited a grant with a net total of $175,000 over a three-year span, and I am currently planning on how to use this money to take our company to the next level from a technology standpoint.

There are specific things that need to be upgraded that I have already pinpointed and priced. These things include new computers, tablets, printers, faster Internet, a new server, and a new projector. I believe that with all of these things we can increase our technology significantly. Also, I believe that with the money we have been granted this project will go very smoothly. This project can easily be done within a scope of six months.
